Marcus Sikora

Saturday, June 11, 2015 was the day our very own, Next Chapter Book Club member and Art of Imagination actor, Marcus Sikora released his book Black Day: The Monster Rock Band at the Omaha Book Worm. The story was read to a standing room only crowd and was followed by a book signing.

Black Day is lighthearted story about Brad a paper boy who wants to be a rock star. When Brad discovers the band Black Day playing in old Professor Hammer’s garage, he really wants to join. The band’s monsters have a different idea and send him away, “No humans!” Brad sets out to change their minds, but the monsters have bigger problems than finding a bass player.

Marcus Sikora is a 25 year old creative soul who has Down syndrome and lives in Omaha, Nebraska. He has acted on stage with local and national companies as well as written a short one act. Black Day: The Monster Rock Band is his first book for children. When he’s not watching theater, singing, or working out, he’s contemplating the sequel, title yet to be determined. You can connect with Marcus and his adventures via Twitter @marcusmusical, Facebook/GrownUpsAndDowns, and BlackDayBook.com

So many people with disabilities feel unwelcome at church, but together we can change that! Join us on August 22, for Exceptional Together: A Special Needs Awareness Conference sponsored by The Core. We will bring community resources, churches, and families with special needs together to connect, educate, and share ways to include those with disabilities. We will feature speakers, an interactive panel, hot topic discussions, and exhibits of local resources. Everyone is welcome! Time is from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and takes place at King of Kings Church, 11615 1 St., Omaha. You can register online at kingofkingsomaha.org. Registration deadline is July 31. Cost of the conference is $20 per person. Questions? Please email karen@kingofkingsomaha.org.
Put Your Honey to Use
Honey Dijon Garlic Chicken

Serves 2-3

Ingredients:
• 1 lb. Chicken thighs – deboned and skin left on
• Pinch of salt and pepper
• 2 tsp olive oil
• 4 cloves minced garlic
• 3 Tbl honey
• 3 tsp Dijon mustard
• ¼ cup water

Instructions:
Debone chicken thighs but keep the skin on. Season with salt and pepper. Heat up skillet on medium heat. Add 1 teaspoon olive oil. Pan-fry chicken on both sides until cooked. Discard the fatty oil from the chicken skin but save the juice from the chicken. Set aside.

With remaining sauce add 1 teaspoon olive oil. Stir fry the garlic until slightly browned. Add honey, Dijon, water and salt. Stir to combine well. Transfer sauce into skillet and heat up to ensure that chicken is completely covered with the Honey Dijon sauce. Remove from heat and serve immediately.

The Buzz on Honeybees - Part 2

It is the beekeeper’s responsibility to remove the honey as it becomes ready during the summer months, and to add additional boxes that contain combs if the bees need more room to produce. It’s important for honey production that the bees have enough space within their hives, in order for them to function at an optimum level. Therefore, as the honey production accelerates, the beekeeper must be aware of when to provide them with more space.

Introduction to Broadcasting

This summer The Art of Imagination offered its first Introduction to Broadcasting course. Students worked with Artistic Director, Jim Hoggatt to produce a podcast called Ollie Webb Radio, which is a monthly radio magazine featuring the students and staff of Ollie Webb Center, Inc. The podcast is made up of short vignettes regarding activities and subjects in which the students are interested. There is also an interview segment featuring local artists that are currently working with Ollie Webb students. Students and Hoggatt write each episode as a group, record each show over a few class periods, and edit the recordings into the monthly podcast.

Students in the Introduction to Broadcasting program also create videos to be posted on YouTube and the website Vine. Videos on Vine can only run six seconds long, so students brainstorm short and fun ideas to post. The Ollie Webb Radio podcast can be heard at https://archive.org/details/Podcast1_20150623 and the videos will be online soon. A link to watch the videos will be listed in next month’s Gazette.

Jeff and Cathy Ballard…where have you heard those names before? Maybe you’re an educator, who has heard mention of the great things they’ve done in schools. Maybe you’re an artist or art-appreciator who has seen their careers sky-rocket. Or, maybe you know them from their involvement in Ollie Webb Center, Inc. services as Pilot Parents and their son, Jason’s involvement in CSI’s independent-living services, Art of the Imagination and Arc’s Adult Services.

Currently, Jason is thriving in his work and social life. He enjoys going to concerts, movies and hanging out with friends. He lives with roommates but still really enjoys spending time back at home with mom and dad. Jeff and Cathy love having him come home. They also enjoy time with their younger son, Joel, his wife and son. Jason loves being a first-time uncle! Love for being with family and creativity run in the Ballard’s bloodline.

Cathy has donated her hand painted works of art (by Paint’d Shabby) to Ollie’s Dream Gala and Jeff has also donated artwork to the gala. They both have Etsy shops: www.etsy.com/shop/PaintdShabby and www.etsy.com/shop/BLENDEDimages. Jeff is excited to have one of his pieces featured as promo-art in “CBS Sunday Morning” broadcasts. The couple is also planning their take on a “corky canvas” night for 21 and over participants at Ollie Webb Center, Inc. Look in your September newsletter for more details!
